ESTABLISHED IN 1961, AACC is a fully accredited, nationally recognized, public, two-year institution and the largest single-campus community college in Maryland, serving 53,000 students annually in credit and noncredit courses.

AACC offers credit programs leading to an associate degree, certificate or a letter of recognition. Students may prepare for transfer to a four-year institution or move into an immediate career.

The college also offers extensive lifelong learning opportunities and noncredit continuing professional education courses to those seeking career training or retraining, working to boost basic skills or pursuing new areas of interest. Continuing education certificates, which are workforce credentials, are offered in more than three dozen areas.

ADMISSION

The college maintains an open-door policy to all high school graduates, those with a high school equivalency certificate and anyone at least 16 years old who demonstrates an ability to benefit from a college education.

TOP HONORS

- ▶ AACC is leading a 10-college consortium that received a $19.7 million grant in fall 2011 as part of the U.S. Department of Labor's Trade Adjustment Assistance Community College and Career Training initiative to provide training for in-demand jobs in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) fields. Called the National STEM Consortium, the 10 institutions are in nine states. They will work with industry partners to develop one-year certificate programs in five high-wage, high-skill STEM industries: composite materials technology, cyberotechnology, electric vehicle technology, environmental technology and mechatronics, a multidisciplinary field of engineering. AACC will take the lead on developing one-year certificates in cyberotechnology and will partner with another college to create one-year certificates in mechatronics.
- ▶ The National Science Foundation awarded a $598,000 grant to AACC in 2011 to increase numbers of academically talented students who graduate from AACC, transfer to a four-year college or university and work in engineering or who go directly from graduation from AACC into an engineering technologies career. The "AACC Engineering Scholars Program: Increasing Access and Diversity" (ESP Scholars) requires applicants to demonstrate financial need and targets under-represented populations such as women and minorities. The program launched in fall 2011 with 10 scholars.
- ▶ For a second consecutive year, AACC was named one of the 2011 Great Colleges to Work For by the Chronicle of Higher Education.
- ▶ AACC was named a Military Friendly School for 2011 by G.I. Jobs magazine; this is the third consecutive year for its selection for this honor.
- ▶ The National Security Agency and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security designated AACC as a National Center of Academic Excellence in Information System Security Education for Information Assurance Two-Year Education (CAE2Y) for the academic years 2010 through 2015.
- ▶ Employer satisfaction with contract training provided by the Center for Workforce Solutions achieved 100 percent.
- ▶ AACC was named to the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for a fifth consecutive year.

ACCOUNTABILITY

- ▶ AACC has received an unqualified audit opinion with no management letter recommendations for 11 consecutive years effective with the FY 2011 audit.
- ▶ The majority of the college's financial resources (53.3 percent) directly support instruction.
- ▶ Add the percent of expenditures for instruction and academic support and AACC commits 67 percent of all expenditures to instruction, which is a higher rate than the Maryland system average and that of AACC's peer institutions.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

- ▶ The average income of a student with an associate's degree is $56,200 or 35 percent more than a student with a high school diploma.
- ▶ State and local governments see a rate of return of 9 percent on their support for AACC, which compares favorably with private sector rates of return on similar long-term investments.
- ▶ 76 percent of AACC students remain in Anne Arundel County. (Source: EMSI, November 2010)

AFFORDABILITY

- ▶ AACC was the third lowest in total tuition and fees ($100) per credit hour among all 16 community colleges in Maryland and the lowest of the five large community colleges in FY 2011. The statewide average was $115.
- ▶ AACC ranked fourth lowest in estimated annual tuition and fees among Maryland community colleges in Fall 2010 at $3,010 for students taking at least 30 credits annually.

Scholarships/Financial Aid

THE COLLEGE BELIEVES no student should be prevented from attending because of limited financial resources. Many students receive financial aid through a combination of need-based federal and state grants, federal student and parent loans, employment through the Federal Work-Study and Institutional Student Employment Programs, interest-free payment plans or an extensive list of institutional, community and state scholarship funds.

- ▶ The AACC Foundation Inc. authorized $561,025 to 540 students in FY 2011. Scholarships range from $50 to $4,700 per award. The foundation manages more than 250 funds supporting scholarships and college programs. Community organizations and individuals established 12 new funds for priority campus needs through the foundation in fiscal year 2011.
- ▶ AACC students received a total of $37,192,382 in federal financial aid (grants, loans and work study) in fiscal year 2011. More than 5,840 students received $16,716,894 in federal grants. $20,155,713 in federal loans was awarded to 3,751 loan applicants.
- ▶ 1,145 students received $1,036,166 from Maryland state awards.
- ▶ An unduplicated total of 9,170 students received $40,342,381 from all sources of financial aid.

LOCATIONS / COLLEGE RESOURCES

AACC is a single-campus community college with a main campus at Arnold, off-campus sites at Arundel Mills in Hanover and the Glen Burnie Town Center, a new cybersecurity and technology training center opening at Teague Road in Hanover in fall 2012 and offices at the Fort Meade Army Education Center. AACC also offers classes at more than 100 county locations including schools, churches and senior centers.

Student services are available online and at the Arnold campus, AACC at Arundel Mills, the Glen Burnie Town Center and the Fort Meade Army Education Center.

ARNOLD CAMPUS

- ▶ The Andrew G. Truxal Library contains more than 144,300 books, 150 print periodicals, 1,190 videotapes, 765 CDs, 2,400 DVDs and 71 online databases offering access to more than 15,000 electronic journals and magazines, 28,300 electronic books, hundreds of thousands of digital images and hours of streaming video and audio. The library served more than 200,000 visitors in FY 2011.
- ▶ The Center for Applied Learning and Technology contains cybersecurity labs, design studios and high-tech computer labs for architecture and interior design, continuing education, computer information systems, computer science, electronic and telecommunication technologies and engineering programs.
- ▶ The renovated Careers Center includes a state-of-the-art Environmental Center, an entrepreneurial studies resource center and an interactive world languages lab.

ARUNDEL MILLS (AMIL)

AACC at Arundel Mills, designated a Regional Higher Education Center, is a four-story, 77,000-square-foot facility. It houses the AACC University Consortium; the Teacher Education and Child Care Institute; the Science, Technology, Math and Engineering (STEM) Center; the Physician Assistant program, student services, classrooms and labs.

- ▶ The Sales and Service Training Center at Arundel Mills works in partnership with the Anne Arundel Workforce Development Corporation (AAWDC), National Retail Federation Foundation and the Retail Skills Center Regional Consortium to prepare individuals for careers in sales and service, train employees of area merchants and offer Adult Basic Skills, GED education and more through the AAWDC One-Stop Career Center on site. More than 5,600 people accessed the center in FY 2011.
- ▶ Opening in August 2012 is the Center for Cyber and Professional Training at 7556 Teague Road near Arundel Mills. The 30,000-square-foot center will house 13 specialized labs, a testing center and faculty support space.

► GLEN BURNIE TOWN CENTER (GBTC)

AACC operates facilities in two buildings at the center. The five-story Arundel Center North has classrooms, computer facilities and student services. It is also home to the Center for Workforce Solutions, which provides employee training and business services to companies, agencies and organizations when and where the training is needed. The 10,000-square-foot Hotel, Culinary Arts and Tourism Institute has a commercial kitchen and training classroom.

► LEARNING AND TECHNOLOGY

The Virtual Campus provides learning programs and courses at any time and any place in a totally online format or hybrid format, with online and in the classroom components. In FY 2011, 46 percent of the credit student body took at least one credit course via distance education. Students can complete seven degrees and 29 credit certificates fully online.

AACC has 288 smart/modified classrooms, 299 (100 percent) technologically equipped instructional rooms, 94 computer labs and 2,285 instructional desktop and laptop computers.

All informal campus learning spaces are open wireless areas including AACC at Arundel Mills, the Arnold campus and Glen Burnie Town Center.

► STUDENT ACTIVITIES

AACC has 88 student clubs and organizations including academic clubs, campus publications, honor societies, performing groups, recreational clubs, special interest clubs and the Student Association. AACC supports an extensive intercollegiate athletic program including baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, softball and volleyball.

STUDENT SUCCESS 2020

The purpose of Student Success 2020 is to continue AACC's commitment to student success by helping more students be more successful. The college is measuring student success in terms of educational goal attainment with an emphasis on completion of degrees, certificates and other workforce credentials.

Fundamental to SS2020 is AACC's continued commitment to maintain its high quality, rigorous academic standards. Our goal is to double the number of AACC degrees, certificates and workforce credentials awarded by 2020 — with milestones established at three-year intervals: 2011, 2014, 2017 and 2020. In 2011, AACC:

- ▶ Surpassed its milestone for 2011 credentials earned: 5,267 projected credentials; 5,744 total credentials awarded.
- ▶ Identified four additional indicators of student success and set milestones:
 1. Successful complete remedial or developmental instruction and advance to credit-bearing courses;
 2. Enroll in and successfully complete the initial college-level or gatekeeper courses in subjects such as math and English;
 3. Complete the courses they take with a grade of C or better;
 4. Persist from term to term: Fall to fall retention is 58 percent.
